

Jackson Raps Justice Black For Sitting On Partner's Case

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Nurnberg, June 11 (AP)—A smoldering feud involving members of the United States' highest court burst into the open today following an unprecedented charge by Justice Robert H. Jackson that Justice Hugo Black had participated in decisions favoring Black's former law partner.

"There may be those who think it quite harmless to encourage the employment of justices' ex-law partners to argue close cases by smoothing the objections which the bar makes to this practice," Jackson declared in a statement issued at a hastily-summoned press conference last night. "But in my view such an attitude would soon bring the court into disrepute."

Jackson, who is now on leave from the U. S. Supreme court to act as chief United States prosecutor in the war crimes trials before the International Military tribunal here, said the statement had been cabled to House and Senate Judiciary committees because "Congress has a right to know the facts and issues involved."

Lauds Vinson
Jackson went to considerable length to declare that nothing in his statement was intended to reflect upon Fred Vinson, whose nomination by President Truman to be the new chief justice now is pending before the Senate.

He described Vinson as "an upright, fearless and well-qualified man," and said he felt it was imperative to air the facts about the court "feud" since "further suppression of the facts will not help Mr. Vinson and will afford a continuing basis for irresponsible rumor and innuendo."

Jackson said Black threatened him with "war" unless he joined "in covering up the facts," and then added: "If war is declared on me I propose to wage it with the weapons of the open warrior, not those of the stealthy assassin."

5 NATURALIZED IN COURT HERE DURING SPECIAL VETS' SESSION

Five residents of Adams and Fulton counties, three of them sisters at St. Joseph's academy, McSherrystown, renounced their allegiance to the countries of their nativity and became citizens of the United States Monday afternoon at the court house here amidst scenes and circumstances which are given to few to enjoy as they take over the privileges and duties of their new citizenship.

The five admitted to citizenship were:

Anna Marie Kaufman, 42, who came to this country in 1927 from Curculen, Ireland; home, Harrisonville, Fulton county.

Sister St. Declan, 50, (Anna Walsh) who came to this country in 1912 from Castlebar, Ireland; home, St. Joseph's academy, McSherrystown.

Sister M. Bernardino, 65, (Anne Gavanahan), came here in 1896 from Mayo, Ireland; home, St. Joseph's academy, McSherrystown.

Sister Marie Aimee, 78, (Emile Wilmont), came to this country in 1882 from Geneva, Switzerland; home, McSherrystown.

Marie Aline Leonie Hoop, 40, who came to this country in 1937 from Mont Laurier, Quebec; home, Crystal Springs, Fulton county.

Take Oaths From Judge
The examiner was George P. Halberstadt, Washington.

While two hundred or more officers and delegates of the United Spanish War Veterans, Department of Pennsylvania, assembled here for their 42nd annual convention, looked on and participated in the ceremony, these five took their oaths to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America. Applause of these veterans of the campaigns of 1898 followed them after they had raised their right hands and repeated the oath after Presiding Judge W. C. Sheely.

"This court has convened to receive into citizenship certain persons of foreign countries," Judge Sheely declared. "This is one of the most solemn duties which this court is called upon to perform."

"Most of us accept our citizenship lightly, because we have been born into it. We do not realize that many countries, do not enjoy the benefits of our own. Most of us are citizens by the grace of God and the accident of birth."

4 TEACHERS ELECTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

The Gettysburg school board, at its regular meeting in the superintendent's office in the high school Monday night, accepted the resignation of Miss Harriet Mays, art supervisor, and J. Guy Wolf, commercial teacher, granted a two-year maternity leave of absence to Mrs. LaRue K. Ridinger, home economics teacher, and hired four new teachers.

The board voted to fill Mrs. Ridinger's place with Miss Helen Keefe, home economics teacher at Doylestown, Pa., and daughter of School Superintendent Lloyd C. Keefe, at a salary of $2,000.

Howard Shoemaker, Souderton, Pa., a graduate of Gettysburg college, was employed as assistant athletic coach and teacher of history and social studies, at a salary of $1,800.

Elementary Teacher
Miss Jessie E. Crouse, Gettysburg, a teacher at Brysonia, was named elementary teacher at $1,800 a year and Mrs. James Gray Gulden, Gettysburg, whose husband is attending Gettysburg college, was employed as librarian at $1,700.

The position of art supervisor was not filled. Applications were on file from some of the new teachers, but no acceptance has been received nor have they been notified of their appointment, Superintendent Keefe said.

Mrs. Gulden has been employed in a cafeteria at West York, the board was informed. Mr. Shoemaker will take summer courses at Gettysburg college for his master's degree, Superintendent Keefe said. The board filled only one vacancy in the elementary grades, Mr. Keefe said, other vacancies need not be filled at this time.

Other Business
The board adopted a resolution directing the installation of new lights in the four rooms on the west side of the Meade school. It took no action on a suggestion by Mr. Keefe that ultra-violet or germ-killing lights be installed, to reduce the spread of common colds and other diseases in the schools. This matter was referred to the property committee for further investigation. The supply committee was directed to obtain prices on four carloads of coal. No action was taken on proposed plans for a new junior high school. The board will obtain prices and proposals on killing weeds on school property.

'FRIENDS' VISIT AT SEMINARY

Five buses brought members of the Somerset county chapter of the "Friends of the Seminary" to Gettysburg Monday for a visit on the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary campus and a tour over the battlefield. There were 165 men and women in the group that included members of the Somerset county Ministerium.

The group, one of 19 similar chapters that have been formed in this and neighboring states, visited the campus, held a worship service in the Church of the Abiding Presence, enjoyed a picnic lunch on the campus, toured the battlefield, visited Camp Nakawa where they ate their evening meal and then began the last leg of their 300-mile all-day trip.

The Revs. Richard C. Wolff and Howard J. McGarney, of the seminary staff, conducted the worship service in the chapel with the Rev. Robert S. Nagle, pastor at Berlin, Somerset county, and a Gettysburg alumnus, at the organ.

Other chapters of seminary "friends" will come here during the summer. On June 23 the Westminster, Md., chapter will come here and on July 31, the chapter from Bedford, Pa., will make a similar trip.

On June 27, an executive committee meeting of representatives of the 19 groups of friends will be held on the campus.

Garvin New Head Of 'Field Guides

Henry W. Garvin, president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, was elected president of the local Battlefield Guides association at a recent meeting of the organization.

He succeeds Walter Reynolds, who held the office for a number of years but refused re-election. J. Guy Wolf was named vice president. Re-elected were James Crouse, secretary, and Clarence Wright, treasurer.

Weather Forecast

Wednesday partly cloudy and quite warm with scattered afternoon showers.

More Pupils Enroll In Bible School Here

Seventeen new pupils enrolled this morning at the second session of the Daily Vacation Bible school, which opened here Monday morning at the Methodist and Presbyterian churches under the auspices of the Protestant churches of the town. Wednesday is the last day for boys and girls to enroll in order to secure full credit for the two-week training course.

Pupils of the Junior department, whose theme for study is "Living in Our Community," visited the Dobbin House and the Lincoln room on center square during this morning's session. Miss MaBelle Herter is the department superintendent.

BOYS' SCHOOL HEAD TALKS AT ROTARY MEET

Eugene S. Keller, superintendent of the White Hill Industrial school near Camp Hill, told the Rotarians here Monday evening that "you are paying the bills, and it is up to you and the local communities to make your choice. You can spend a few dollars and put some energy into preventing juvenile delinquency and crime, or you can continue to pay more and more for a bigger and bigger and penal system for the state."

The home, churches, and the schools must be made to do their share or delinquency and crime will continue to increase, the penologist declared.

"The home situation is serious. Much of the delinquency today is due to the breakdown of the homes. Sixty per cent of the inmates at White Hill are from broken homes. Sometimes when boys are brought to White Hill we are surprised not by the fact that they have been delinquent but by the fact that there is so much good in them despite their environment and background. Sometimes one wonders where the good came from."

Role Of Religion
"As for religion, during the past five years 75 per cent of the boys brought to White Hill had not been baptized, had never been inside a Sunday School. I don't know what has happened, but I do know that we cannot have law abiding youngsters unless they have some knowledge of God. Of those who join a church while at White Hill only one per cent have ever been in trouble again. That is because they have something to lean on, to give them guidance when things become difficult. The churches in the local community must do something. They must make the effort to get these youngsters into the Sunday schools and churches. If we can't get the boys over to our side of the tracks then we'll have to move the church to the other side of the tracks to reach them."

"In regard to the schools we seem to have been training boys to make a living, but have failed to teach them how to live. That is another job for each local school."

"We've got to get out of our complacency. Far too often we say of a youth who has gone astray that he has gotten into the wrong company and then forget about it. It's our job to see that he gets into the right company."

Few Repeaters
"Of the boys who have been at White Hill, only 15 per cent ever come back and 10 per cent of those who do are sent back because you, the local community, are not ready for them. I've seen boys who were ready and fit to be good members of society when they left us return after a time because their local community welcomed them with the cry of 'jail bird' and was ready to find them at fault in everything they did. The result was that eventually they could find no outlet in the right way so they went wrong. We frequently have boys who do not want to leave White Hill because of their fear of the local community to which they must return."

He urged fathers to spend more time with their sons, "and other people's sons. There is no joy so great as being able to help a boy over the hump. I know of one case where a boy lost his father, and his mother could do nothing with him. She came to me and I followed him. He was out every night until 10 or 11 o'clock and never told his mother where he had been. I found he spent much of the night just talking to the night watchman at his father's former factory and the rest sitting in a bar room just to hear the talk of men. I invited him to my house and he came there nearly every night to talk to me. Now he is becoming a missionary after spending four years in the air corps. I feel I helped that boy over the hump. You can do the same thing if you wish. Of course it takes some time and energy, but it is cheaper than spending more and more on the penal system."

EXPECT MICKLE TO KEEP POST MEET SATURDAY

Election of J. Warren Mickle to a full two-year term as Democratic state chairman when the party's state committee reorganizes here Saturday appeared assured today.

Elevated from secretary of the state committee to head the party when Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh resigned last December, Mickle has made no campaign to retain the post but leaders agreed he will face no opposition at the committee meeting this week-end.

"I have not heard anyone's name mentioned except Mickle's," declared State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black, a statement echoed by other party leaders available for comment in Harrisburg.

Mickle, himself, withheld any comment other than the choice is entirely up to the committee's 113 members, adding "Of course, I'll accept if elected."

The 56-year-old Bedford county took over direction of party affairs from Lawrence after serving for years as secretary of the state committee, a post that has never been filled. Lawrence was reported backing Mickle for re-election with other party leaders concurring in line with the harmony that has prevailed throughout the spring in party affairs.

Expect Large Crowd
The committee, which will meet here at 1 p. m. in the courthouse, will also select a vice chairman and treasurer with Mrs. Ruth Gregg Horsting, of Lancaster, and Albert E. Gastrock, of Harrisburg, expected to be renominated to the respective offices.

Following the committee meeting, Col. John S. Rice, the party's nominee for governor, will be notified of his selection at ceremonies on Memorial field at the college.

Mayor Lawrence will make the notification address with a response by Rice while the party's other state-wide candidates—U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey for re-election, State Sen. John H. Dent for lieutenant governor, and Al Schmid for secretary of internal affairs—will make short talks.

"Delegations are coming to the ceremony from all over the state," declared Mickle. "At a number of places, buses have been chartered."

23 Boy Scouters At First Training Class

Twenty-three patrol leaders, assistants, senior patrol leaders and scouters attended the opening session of the Black Walnut (Adams county) Boy Scout district patrol leaders training course Monday evening.

District Commissioner Jack Cessna headed the list of instructors for the class held at the Troop 78 scoutrooms. The next class will be held next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Troop 78 headquarters.

Truman Vetoes Case Bill; Designed To Curb Strikes

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, June 11 (AP)— President Truman vetoed the Case Labor Disputes bill today because, he said, it would compel men to work for private employers "in a peace-time democracy."

Declaring that the measure "strikes at symptoms and ignores underlying causes" of work stoppages, Mr. Truman added in a 4,500-word message that ended more than a week of feverish speculation:

"Strikes against private employers can not be ended by legislative decree. Men can not be forced in a peace-time democracy to work for a private employer under compulsion."

Major provisions of the Case bill included the creation of a federal mediation board, restrictions against any strike or lockout while the board sought solution of a labor dispute; a prohibition on secondary boycotts; and provision for court suits against employers or labor organizations violating collective bargaining contracts.

The Chief Executive coupled his veto with a renewed plea for his own emergency strike control plan, for a Senate-hour study of the whole field of labor relations and for enactment of his long-stale-mated domestic legislative program.

Chamber Tables Old Home Week Proposal

Gettysburg's Old Home Week, suggested to the Chamber of Commerce by John D. Lippy, Jr., has been postponed for further consideration next spring, Henry W. Garvin, president of the Chamber, announced today.

The proposal was discussed at length at a special meeting of the Chamber directors Monday evening in their offices and it was decided to table the suggestion for this year and to revive the question early next spring.

The directors said they felt the approximate cost of $6,000 to finance the project this year would conflict with the plans to raise approximately $12,000 for the Welcome Home to Veterans of the county celebration on August 14.

CLOSING SEVEN RURAL SCHOOLS FOR NEXT YEAR

At least seven "little red school houses" in rural Adams county have closed their doors for at least a year and probably forever as township school boards double up pupil assignments in remaining schools to avoid financial penalties provided in new state school laws aimed at reducing low-enrollment schools.

Straban, Cumberland and Hamilton townships are closing a total of seven one-room schools to bring average enrollment in their remaining schools up to the state-required average of 30 pupils.

Pupils in the areas of the closed schools will be transported to remaining schools in the same townships in most instances.

Straban Closing Three
Straban school officials announced today they are closing Fairview, Rocky Grove and Pines schools and re-opening the long-unused second room at the Hunterstown school house to which pupils in the closed-school areas will be taken by bus.

Cumberland township is closing Willow Grove and Centennial Hall schools with pupils being distributed among Moritz's, Round Top and Pitzer's schools.

The Hamilton township board announced this morning it is closing Hartman's and Seven Hundred schools. All seventh and eighth grade pupils in the township will be transported to New Oxford while elementary grade pupils will be distributed between Pine Run and Green Ridge schools in the township.

List Of Teachers
Straban township directors announced this assignment of teachers for their six remaining schools: Round Top, Mrs. Elsie Wolf; Moritz's, Mrs. Margaret Vanderwall; New Chester, Mrs. Zora Stambaugh; Woodside, Harry Bream; Good Intent, Mrs. Marian Milhimes; Hunterstown, lower grades, Mrs. Dorothy Duttera, and upper grades, Mrs. Winifred Thompson.

Directors said the three schools being closed have been in use for "about 75 years." Disposition of the three buildings has not been decided. The district owns the three buildings and the land on which Rocky Grove school stands. School grounds at the two other sites revert to former owners, it was stated.

PLAN TO MARRY
Wedding license applications have been filed in York by the following couples: Charles D. Willt, Jr., York, and Margaret Christina Groupe, East Berlin; George L. Lawyer, Hanover, and Alberta A. Grimm, Midway; Charles E. Fissel, East Berlin, and Betty Marie Biesecker, Thomasville R. I.

FOUR-COUNTY GROUP STUDIES RELIEF PICTURE

"Communities need to realize that county homes are really hospitals and infirmaries for the aged and convalescent and where this is true there is less reluctance to enter them and less feeling attached to the traditional idea of almshouses."

That conclusion was one of several reached by members of the Public Assistance Boards of Adams, Fulton, Franklin and Cumberland counties, the directors from those boards and state officials of the Department of Public Assistance at a discussion meeting Monday evening at Trinity Evangelical Reformed church here.

Led by Robert P. Wray, acting state secretary of Public Assistance, the group discussed the varying needs of elderly and infirm persons in private homes and in convalescent homes. The adequacy of the care provided in each county was discussed by the group.

Used "Personal" Approach
The dividing line where care from public assistance ends and county aid begins was talked about at some length along with the facilities provided for those who no longer can care for themselves.

Kept on a personal plane throughout, the discussion was based upon "How would I feel if I were under DPA or county aid in my old age?"

The same personal approach was employed in a discussion of the need for adequate, well supervised care for children not in their own homes with the discussion based upon experiences in the four counties. The board members were asked to look at the problem from the standpoint of "How would I like my children to be cared for if I were to die and they became Public Assistance charges."

The meeting of the group was the second gathering on a four-county scale with a similar meeting held last year in Franklin county.

Board chairmen attending included J. D. Miller, chairman of the Adams county board who presided at the meeting; the Rev. David Hoover, Fulton county; Lee L. Steiger, Franklin county; and Mrs. Emma E. Brownhill, Cumberland county. State officials present included Mr. Wray, James Brindle, director of public assistance; Udel LaViolette, field service supervisor, and Miss Margaret Swiggard, field representative.

members of the court. The chairman of the judiciary committees also withheld comment.)

Jackson referred specifically to the Jewell Ridge coal case in which the court held by a 5-4 decision on May 7, 1945, that soft coal mines were entitled to portal-to-portal pay; and the subsequent refusal of the court to grant a rehearing requested by the coal company. Jackson said Crampton Harris of Alabama, Black's former law partner, was counsel for the winner in the case—a local of the United Mine Workers. Harris likewise declined to comment.

In his statement Jackson said that "publicized threats" against him had been "exploited by certain inspired commentators and columnists, x x x. The most specific attack on me is that in the Washington Star of May 16, 1946," in a column by Doris Fiescon.

This, he continued, quoted Black as complaining that Jackson's opinion in the court's ruling against rehearing the Jewell Ridge case was an "open and gratuitous insult" and a "slur upon his (Black's) personal and judicial honor."

Questions Judgment

"I do not want it inferred that I charge that Justice Black's sitting in the Jewell Ridge case involved lack of 'honor'." Jackson's statement said. "It is rather a question of judgment as to sound judicial policy."

Jackson's version of the facts leading up to the "feud" follows: "The Jewell Ridge coal decision in itself was a somewhat startling one. The United Mine Workers reversed the position it had previously taken about the Fair Labor Standards Act superseding the coal miners collectively bargained contracts. It employed as counsel Mr. Black's former law partner to argue its new contention to the Supreme Court and he, too, took a position as to coal miners not consistent with his argument used the previous term to win a case for the iron miners. Mr. Black reversed the position he had taken in managing the bill as a senator.

Black's Vote Decisive

"The court, by a bare majority of five to four, supported the change of front by the United Mine Workers, x x x Mr. Justice Black controlled assignment of the case because the Chief Justice was in dissent. Mr. Justice Black chose Mr. Justice Murphy to write the majority opinion. While Mr. Justice Murphy was preparing his opinion a strike of the Mine Workers and negotiations with the operators were proceeding.

"It was proposed to hand down the decision in favor of the miners without waiting for opinion and dissent. The only apparent reason behind this proposal was to announce the decision in time to influence contract negotiations during the coal strike.

"During the coal strike Chief Justice Stone protested such proposed irregular treatment vigorously. I do not believe Mr. Justice Murphy favored it. In all events it was abandoned, x x x."

Jackson said he was uneasy about the case and also about a previous case involving the Tennessee coal company and a mine union, in which Harris also was counsel and which also was decided in favor of Harris' client, Black's vote being decisive.

Flags From D.A.R.

The oaths were administered by Judge Sheely, and members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, headed by Mrs. Mark K. Eckert, regent of the Gettysburg chapter, presented an American flag to each new citizen.

"The D.A.R. is very happy to be the first to greet you after you have taken your oaths of citizenship," Mrs. Eckert said. You have attained a great honor, and I know you will appreciate these flags presented to you."

Playing before one of the largest crowds of the season Monday evening on the college field, the State Highway and Acme teams won softball league games to remain in a tie for first place.

In the opening game the Highway nosed out the Elks 3-1. Meller, a newly-signed Highway hurler, held the lodgements to three hits. The Highway tabbed a run in the opening inning on a single, two out and an infield error. In the fourth Everhart singled and scored on Donaldson's homer to left. The Elks run in the sixth came on I. Kitzmiller's single and another safe blow by B. Bream.

The Acme took advantage of some solid hitting combined with ragged defense play on the part of the Varsity Barbers to chalk up an easy 13-2 victory in the second game.

Marlin "Buzz" Gher, of Mechanicsburg, a junior at Gettysburg college, recently signed by the Barbers, thrilled the crowd with his semi-pro-like hurling the last three innings. Gher, although touched for five runs in the fifth inning when he experienced a streak of wildness, displayed the fastest ball shown so far in the league and forced the Barbers to use two catchers.

Gher's delivery, a sharp, snap underhand pitch, was the first of its

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 11 (AP)—There's battling in baseball and fighting in football this year, so why not a basketball war? The recent decision of the arena managers to form their own pro basketball setup looks as if they were moving in on the established National and American leagues and prey John J. O'Brien of the American loop probably was guilty of the understatement of the year when he said the new group would be "troublesome."

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

When Mickey (Red Sox) Harris was pitching in Panama, at least three or four fingers had better army records. The best of these, Al Jarrett, now is in the coast league and none of the others is above Class "B" as a pro. Hal Price, Oklahoma U. freshman quarterback last season, recently made the highest grade recorded in 2½ years in an intelligence quiz at Camp Chaffee, Ark. Wonder if they asked him the signal for a quarterback sneak? Ex-Dodger L. Bobby Bragan assembled a ball team of six of his brothers and two first cousins to play the Fort McClellan Seventh Regiment team Sunday. Mel Hein is looking for a guy of his own size and talents to play center for Union college (N. Y.) next fall. If he succeeds, Steve Owen probably will arrive on the first plane.

THE LONG AND SHORT

After covering a golf tournament, sports scribe Buss Walker of the Chattanooga Times came up with this difference: "Pro—How far is the green? Amateur—How wide is the fairway?" Buss might have added a third: Spectator—Where's the 19th hole?

CLEANING THE CUFF

That item about the reported "snatching" of a football player in North Carolina the other day trapped this dept. on a quick reverse. It was Carolina that got the athlete and Duke that was moaning. Jerry Kerschner, 1944 National AAU 100 and 200 meters swim champ, will accompany the Ohio State team on its trip to Hawaii late this month. He'll enter Ohio State as a freshman next fall. First casualty of the Kansas U. football season was George Sauer, Jr., the coach's two-year-old son, who fell and busted an arm.

Butler Takes Two In Mid-Atlantic

(By The Associated Press) Butler took both ends of a double-header from Youngstown yesterday, 9-6 and 10-9, to strengthen its hold on second place in the Middle Atlantic league.

League-leading Erie downed Johnstown in their first game, 5-3, but in the second, which went 11 innings, lost 2-2.

Niagara Falls pounded the ball for 15 hits to down Oil City, tail-enders in the league, to the tune of 11-4.

Women's Tournament Will Resume Today

Philadelphia, June 11 (AP)—The eastern women's golf championship resumes today after a four-year war-prompted postponement with a 54-hole medal play tourney at the Aronimink country club here.

Eighteen holes will be played today, tomorrow and Thursday. Golfers from Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania—a field of more than 60—will seek the title now held by Mrs. Harry Monaghan, of New York.

kind seen here and to many it was "unique." It is a typical soft-ball delivery.

In the first game on the high school field the Marketers notched their seventh straight win by blanking the American Legion 4-0 and moved into a four-way tie for second place.

The West End Aires poured six runs over the plate in the third inning to win an easy 11-2 decision over Knox's Grocery in the high school nightcap.

Tonight a meeting of league officials will be held at the fire engine house.

Vernon Increases His Batting Lead

New York, June 11 (AP)—Mickey Vernon of Washington and Dixie Walker of Brooklyn retained comfortable leads in the major league batting races with Vernon hitting .391 and Walker .366 on averages including Sunday's games.

A torrid pace of 14 hits in 34 trips during the week boosted Vernon's lead over runnerup Ted Williams.

BROOKS UNABLE TO BEAT CARDS; PHILS WIN NINE

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Until the Brooklyn Dodgers learn how to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, the Flatbush Faithful would do well to take their pennant hopes with a grain of salt.

In three starts against the favored Red Birds, the Durocher Dandies have played them close to the vest each time but dropped three straight decisions. Their once-healthy lead has now shrunk to two games.

Brooklyn's latest defeat, by a slender 3-2 score, last night in St. Louis, hardly comes under the heading of a major disaster at this early date but it could be an ominous portent of things to come.

The Phillies have won nine of their last 13 starts and threaten to vacate the National league dungeon. A 9-8 victory over the sizzling Chicago Cubs was the latest Phil accomplishment.

Boston closed off the Pittsburgh Pirates' fifth place hopes with a 10-5 decision for Ed Wright over Preacher Roe and a brilliant relief job by Bob Malloy saved Cincinnati a 7-5 triumph over New York.

Sox Increase Lead

While the Cards were tightening the National chase, the Boston Red Sox were pulling away to a nine-game American league lead over the runnerup New York Yankees.

Joe Cronin got the first win of the season out of Bill Butland although he had to relieve him with Earl Johnson in the late stages to hold off Cleveland, 6-3.

Detroit defeated the Yanks 11-3 on Virgil Trucks' five-hit hurling and 12-blow attack.

Roger Wolf lost a five-hit game to St. Louis when Sam Zolack parried out 11 safeties but downed Washington, 2-1.

Chicago nipped Philadelphia, 3-1.

LOUIS ADMITS HE IS SLOWER

Pompton Lakes, N. J., June 11 (AP)—Joe Louis headed into the stretch of his training for his June 19th jamboree with Billy Conn today with the admission he won't be as fast as the last time they tangled but he'll be stronger because he's not "ashamed" of picking on a little fellow now.

It seems before their fight five years ago the Bomber heard about how the Pittsburgh pretty boy was going to come in at a 174 1/2 lb. or so. Actually it was 174. And Joe figures that if he toted a bulky 200 odd it would make it look as if he was picking on someone not his own size.

Stronger And Heavier

As a result he got down to 199½ and sacrificed some strength doing it and thereby left some of his TNT in the training camp.

So this time Joe doesn't care how much of a weight bulge he has or what folks think about it just so he's packing enough beef to toss all his artillery in the approved manner. He'll scale 210 pounds. He feels stronger now than for quite a spell, and expects to feel even better by next Monday when he winds up his training after only five more drills.

Jack Johnson, Ex-Champ Dies

Raleigh, N. C., June 11 (AP)—Jack Johnson, the world's first Negro heavyweight boxing champion, is dead.

The ex-champion, 68, died here yesterday of injuries suffered when his automobile struck a light pole and overturned near Franklinton while en route to New York from Texas, where he recently had concluded a personal appearance tour.

His death in a local hospital, where he was brought following the accident, was attributed to internal injuries and shock. Fred L. Scott, a Negro companion, was treated for minor injuries.

Johnson's wife, Mrs. Irene Johnson, arranged for sending the body to Chicago where she resides.

Johnson became the world's champion when he defeated Tommy Burns of Canada in 14 rounds at Sydney, Australia, December 26, 1906.

He lost the title to Jess Willard at Havana, Cuba, April 16, 1915, in a battle that ever since has been a source of argument.

Defeated Jeffries

Born at Galveston, Texas, and christened John Arthur Johnson, he began his ring career in 1899 and ended it in 1928. During that time he participated in 109 major fights and exhibitions.

His successful defense of the championship against Jim Jeffries at Reno, Nev., July 4, 1910, was the original "battle of the century," which was promoted by Tex Rickard and became his springboard to fight promotion fame.

Five years later Johnson lost the title to Willard. After terrific punishment, Willard won by a knock-out in the 26th round.

Fairfield Upsets Barlow Team 8-7

Fairfield fought off late inning rallies on the part of Barlow to gain an 8-7 victory at Fairfield Sunday afternoon.

Barlow outlit the winners 18 to 14 but could not produce enough punch in the ninth to take the lead despite a two-run rally.

Exercises at Bethany Kindergarten School: The Bethany Kindergarten School, in charge of Miss Anners, gave a very interesting entertainment in Buehler's Hall on Monday evening, June 8, to an appreciative audience.

(Among those who participated, we find—) Ralph Weaver—recitation; Ruth Hamilton—recitation; Rachel Skelly—recitation; Nellie Weaver—composition; Morris Weaver—recitation; Francis McClean—recitation; Janie Quimby—Red Riding Hood; Roger Musselman—Jack the Giant Killer; Ruth Buehler—Cinderella; Frances McClean—No Peep.

Wedding Bells: A church wedding, that of Miss Margaret Elizabeth Herbst, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob C. Herbst, of this place, to Rev. G. W. Enders, Jr., of York, who recently graduated from the Gettysburg Theological Seminary, took place on Tuesday, June 9, at one o'clock P. M., in St. James Lutheran church. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and daisies.

Miss Sallie Herbst and Miss Caroline Enders were the bridesmaids and Miss Leticia Hitchner was the maid of honor. The ushers for the bridal party were Messrs. John Logan and Paul Kohler and Mr. Luther Enders was the best man.

The officiating clergymen were Rev. Dr. Enders, Rev. J. W. Lake and Rev. L. S. Black.

The ushers were Messrs. John Lafane and Harry Kain, of York; Rev. Harry Stock, of Carlisle; Rev. A. J. Rudisill and Messrs. G. Frank Meads and H. B. Bender, of Gettysburg.

Marriages: Brownell—Bream—June 3, at the home of John A. Bream, Butler township, by Rev. U. A. Hankey, Burdon S. Brownell, of Des Moines, Iowa, to Miss Charlotte Bream, of Butler township.

Staley—Garlick—May 31, at Littlestown, by Rev. W. C. Wire, Newton Staley, of Carroll Co., Md., to Miss Virginia Garlick, of Mountjoy township.

Meade and Hancock: The ceremonies connected with the unveiling of the statues of Generals Meade and Hancock on June 5, will live fresh in the memory of all who were present on that occasion. Old Soldiers, who fought under these gallant Commanders on the field of Gettysburg, returned to the scene of the bloody conflict to honor their leaders and see them honored. The weather was superb. The hotels were filled the night before. The early morning trains brought thousands more. The trolley cars were packed with people, the hacks were filled and hundreds were obliged to walk to the scene of the first dedication near Hancock avenue, known as Meade's headquarters. On the 9:30 train came Governor and Mrs. Hastings, and the Governor's staff, who drove at once to the stand near the Meade monument. Colonel George Meade and his party, who arrived the evening before on a special train, joined the guests on the stand.

The unveiling at the Meade statue commenced at 10:30 A. M. The statue was unveiled by Master George Gordon Meade, grandson of Major General Meade. A salute of seventeen guns was made by Light Battery "C," 3rd U. S. Artillery. Then Gen. Gobin addressed Governor Hastings, who stood while General Gobin delivered the address, transferring the statue to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. After the Governor had accepted the statue, General David McGree, who commanded the Second Cavalry Division at Gettysburg, gave the oration for the occasion. General Gobin requested General Miles to say a few words. When the Commander-in-Chief of the army arose, he was greeted with a hearty cheer.

Band music was furnished by the Perseverance Band of Lebanon and the Grand Army Band.

Today's Talk

LAFACADIO HEARN

I often spent many an evening with the late Dr. Frank Crane, and usually our talk drifted to books and writers. One evening Dr. Crane said: "Get the four books by Lafacadio Hearn—Interpretations of Literature (two volumes), Life and Literature, and Appreciations of Poetry." Dr. John Erskine, of Columbia University, wrote introductions to them all—and superb introductions they are!

These books were rather difficult to locate, but I soon had them from the sale of a big library—and not one of them had ever been read by the purchaser, for they were still "uncut." I read them and that started me on a search for all the books of Hearn that I could discover. Now, after some twenty-five years, I have a most notable collection that I prize greatly.

The more you read of Hearn, the more you are astounded by his enormous output, and his perfection of style, his painstaking translations of French classics, and his uncanny ability to see things that he couldn't see, for he was totally blind in one eye and over half blind in the other. The story of his life is one of the strangest and most fascinating in all literature. He was a worshiper of beauty. He liked the odd and unusual in literature, and searched the world for material along this line.

All the books by Lafacadio Hearn are worth reading. Unfortunately, most of them are out of print, so you have to search for them in old book shops or read them in libraries. His life alone, however, is well worth reading, for his is an example of struggle, disappointment, loneliness and a striving for perfection in expression.

This space is all too small in which even to suggest the merits of so fascinating a writer. Several books have been written about his life, but best of them all, in my judgment, is the recent one by Vera McWilliams. It is both scholarly and appreciative. You walk right into the heart of this "little exotic" and breathe the breath of his genius, as the author unfolds his life as you read.

There is no other Hearn in all literary annals. He remains unique, and his fame is certain to increase year by year.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Beauty of Touch"

GOLF WAIL

This is the golfer's constant cry:
"Good along the fairways, but
Once again a loser, I.
Couldn't putt!"

Hear him at the eighteenth hole,
Where the victors proudly strut,
Voice the anguish of his soul:
"Couldn't putt!"

"Pitches to the flag were fine.
Gave the ball sufficient cut.
Drives and irons held the line.
Couldn't putt!"

Hence, till now begins to fly
And the locker rooms are shut,
Golfers round the world will sigh:
"Couldn't putt!"

persons witnessed the unveiling of the Hancock statue as had attended the Meade dedication in the forenoon. General Gobin presided and Captain H. W. McKnight, D.D., led in prayer. Miss Eleanor L. Nicholson pulled the cord which caused the flags to drop. Captain Lancaster's battery fired another salute of seventeen guns. General Gobin transferred the statue to Governor Hastings. The Governor, in his acceptance speech, characterized the dead soldier as "the best corps commander that ever lived."

Congressman Henry H. Bigham, of Philadelphia, Brevet Brigadier General, who was on General Hancock's staff at Gettysburg, delivered the oration.

U. S. HEADING FOR BACK SEAT AGAIN IN AIR RESEARCH

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington June 11 (AP)—We were away behind the Germans before the war in jet planes and guided missiles. The war's over. How are we doing now about research in those fields?

Not so well, says the senate committee investigating the National defense program.

The Nazis sent jet planes, with disturbing success, against our bombers and splintered England with V-2's, the guided missiles.

We never got a jet plane into the war and didn't start to build guided missiles till we had a chance to study some of those captured from the Germans.

Inadequate Facilities Now
The committee considers jet propulsion the greatest single advance in aviation to come out of the war. And the committee says:

"Jet propelled aircraft, pilotless planes, and guided missiles, when coupled with the atomic bomb, give us an insight into the swift and powerful air weapons of the future."

But the committee adds:
"The aeronautical facilities in this country today are inadequate for the new speed regimes."

"The basic and applied research which must be done if we are to keep abreast of present and contemplated future developments in aeronautical science cannot be accomplished with existing facilities."

Who's To Blame?
Who's to blame for the present conditions? says the committee:

"The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA) and the armed forces are primarily responsible for the inadequacy of our present research facilities."

Looking back to the pre-war years, the committee says the NACA and the armed services "failed fully to comprehend the importance of such revolutionary aeronautical developments as jet propulsion and guided missiles."

"A recurrence of this failure to grasp and develop new ideas in the future might well cost this country its place of leadership in the field of aeronautics."

(The NACA is a 15-man board, appointed by the President. It is made up of scientists and army and navy men.)

(Its purpose is to coordinate the research needs of aviation, civil and military and conduct scientific aeronautical research.)

The senate committee suggests, so we can keep abreast of the times, that:

The facilities needed for our aeronautical research will cost several hundred million dollars; the federal government should pay for them where private industry can't. Just to prove how necessary it thinks this work is, the committee says: "During the next few years every major nation will be working upon the improvement of new aeronautical developments and their application to civil and military aviation."

The committee points out, without saying so in so many words, that if Nazi Germany had not gone to sleep for three years while it was fat with victories, the end of the war might have been different.

RENEW ACCORD IN GOP RANKS

Philadelphia, June 1, (AP)—Harmony was apparently restored in Pennsylvania's Republican party ranks today after GOP leaders unanimously re-elected State Senator M. Harvey Taylor chairman of the state committee.

Mrs. Edna R. Carroll was the unanimous choice for another term as vice chairman when leaders voted Saturday.

Joseph N. Pew, Jr., oil company executive, had earlier been reported against Taylor's re-election "for the good of the party."

He told newsmen, however, that he was satisfied Taylor was chosen in a democratic manner. He referred to an extraordinary meeting held Friday night by state GOP leaders.

"Something momentous happened in Pennsylvania politics Friday night. The county chairmen were called into one room and they were told to make their choice for state chairman," Pew said.

"They were told this by both the outgoing governor, Edward Martin, and the Republican candidate for governor, James H. Duff. Both Martin and Duff told them to make their own choice—without fear of reprisals and both left the room."

"The chairmen chose Mr. Taylor. It was a unanimous choice. The way I look at it is that this was a purely democratic way of doing things and angels couldn't ask for more!"

secretary of highways of the Commonwealth, and a candidate in the Republican primary for the gubernatorial nomination.

Announcement was made by Commander Martz of committee designations, and the convention session recessed for the naturalization court. Reports of the commander, senior and junior vice commanders, Department Adjutant Charles Parr, Lash, Pa., and Department Quartermaster T. J. Chuen, Greensburg, were submitted.

The commander's report paid tribute to the work of the service officers, Joseph Hamilton and W. W. Roath, and urged support of legislation increasing widows' pensions from $30 to $40 a month and the restoring to comrades in the Philippines and in other foreign countries of the pensions impounded by the government during World War II.

The commander's report also praised the work of Erskine L. Solomon at the Scotland orphans' school.

Heavy Toll By Death
The report of the adjutant showed a gain of 60 new members during the past year through new members and reinstatement, but a net loss for the year of 267 members, mainly through deaths. Five camps have disbanded during the year, the report showed.

During the afternoon program, Philip Pizzano, of the state military affairs commission, and Miss Margaret Carlin, commission secretary, were presented, and spoke briefly.

Commander J. Walter Johnson, of the Sons of the USWV, Philadelphia, and Harry J. Goodman, Philadelphia, past commander of the Sons, were also presented. The greetings of the national commander were extended by National Historian Barefoot.

Michael Kelley, Shamokin, and Joseph Hamilton, Philadelphia, were named auditors at the Monday afternoon session. During the afternoon committees of the USWV and the auxiliary exchanged greetings.

From the convention session in the court house a committee visited the women's session in St. James church and presented a large basket of flowers. Department President Louise Keiper, her staff and greetings committee later in the afternoon brought the auxiliary greetings to the USWV session and likewise presented a basket of flowers.

Three hundred members of the USWV and the auxiliary attended the convention banquet held at 6 p. m. Monday in St. James church social rooms. The invocation was given by Mrs. Florence Cranage, department senior vice president. The annual ball of the veterans and auxiliary was held, beginning at 9 p. m. in the gymnasium of the Gettysburg high school.

Reports of officers were submitted at the Monday afternoon session of the auxiliary at St. James church. The secretary's report showed a total membership as of October, 1945, of 3,411. The number of auxiliaries as of June, 1945, was shown as 81. Two auxiliaries disbanded during the past year. The chaplain, Mrs. Sarah Halpenny, Philadelphia, reported 47 deaths during the year.

The financial report showed receipts of $3,896.71; disbursements of $2,566.15, a bank balance of $1,330.56 and total available assets of $2,834.83.

BIBLE SCHOOL AT EAST BERLIN

The Daily Vacation Bible school sponsored by the Protestant churches of East Berlin and open to all children from pre-school age through early teen age of that section, began its fifth year Monday morning at the East Berlin borough school building and will be conducted each morning except Saturday and Sunday until the closing date, Friday, June 21.

The younger children will study memory verses from the Bible, sacred pictures and songs, and Bible stories. The older pupils will study miracles from the life of Christ, New Testament biography and a course entitled "The Young Christian in Public," demonstrating their responsibility toward the teachings of Christ applied to their everyday lives. Each morning will be opened with a devotional period in charge of Mrs. Charles L. Gentzler, with Miss Peggy Ann Moul as pianist. Each day will also include a brief social period.

The pre-school children are in charge of Mrs. John Myers, assisted by the Misses Grace M. Elgin, Nancy Glatfelter, Dolores L. Gochenour and Beverly A. Pifer. Children of primary grade age are taught by Mrs. Carl Fitzkee and Mrs. Sherman Krall, while the next division, covering the secondary and grammar grade ages, is under the instruction of Mrs. Alvin J. Forry, wife of the East Berlin Reformed pastor, Miss Ruth A. Deatrick and Mrs. Charles L. Gentzler. Miss Deatrick will also instruct a class in the teen-age group, her fellow teachers being the East Berlin Lutheran and Reformed pastors, the Revs. Snyder, Alteman and Alvin J. Forry.

Those in charge of this project request that attendance be regular after a pupil has enrolled.

BROTHERHOOD MEETS SUNDAY

Laymen from many of the Lutheran churches of York, Cumberland, Franklin and Adams counties gathered Sunday afternoon at the Church of the Abiding Presence on the seminary campus here for the first meeting in several years of the West Pennsylvania Conference Brotherhood which curtailed conference sessions during the war. About 200 persons attended.

Election of officers was the principal item of business and John R. L. Schiding, York, was re-elected president. The other newly-elected officers are Kenneth May, York, vice president; Walter Eisenhart, York, secretary; and Charles P. Oyler, Chambersburg, treasurer.

The officers were installed by Dr. Gerald Neely, York, West Pennsylvania Conference president.

Devotions were conducted by the Rev. Howard Walker, of St. Peter's church, York, and there were four selections by the Men's Brotherhood choir of St. Matthew's Lutheran church of York. The purposes of the Brotherhood were reviewed by W. K. S. Hershey, York, and reports from 20 local branches of the Brotherhood were presented by delegates. The only unit in Adams county is at Arendtsville. The Brotherhood at Harney Lutheran church, a part of the Mt. Joy charge, was among those reporting.

PUPLIS GO ON ANNAPOLIS TRIP

A delegation of 42 boys and girls from the Gettysburg parochial school joined nearly 1,200 other youngsters from the southern area of the Harrisburg diocese on a trip Monday to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Pupils making the trip included seventh, eighth and ninth graders from parochial schools in Gettysburg, Hanover, McSherrytown, Littlestown, New Oxford, Bonneauville and Conewago.

The trip is one of two arranged by the Rev. Harold E. Keller, superintendent of the schools of the diocese. Before the war, the Rev. Father Keller arranged an excursion to various points of interest each year. With the end of travel resumed.

The special train to carry the boys and girls left Union station in Hanover Monday morning at 5:30 o'clock in Baltimore, the children transferred to the Bay Belle, which vessel took them down the Chesapeake Bay to Annapolis, where they were taken on a tour of the Naval academy. Returning, they are to reach home at about 11 p. m.

Sisters of the faculties of the various schools are in charge of the children. Each youngster took his lunch. A similar excursion will be held for the pupils of the northern half of the diocese next Tuesday.

Backfire by Rufus Heed

Chapter 27

Paul was waiting for the Senator when he arrived at Random Folly the next afternoon.

"What gives, Senator? Whitney tells me you think you can settle my slander case this afternoon."

"We can make a try at it, son. I'll say for that girl she's given us the only chance we would possibly have to keep the action out of the courts."

The Senator noticed how white and tired Paul seemed. It was evident the last few days had been a strain on him. The tall, young Commander was silent a minute, then he said shortly,

"If Barberini makes a complete retraction of the charge he made against me and there is a statement which he signs—I'll accept it. I know statements signed by him have not been worth the paper they were written on as far as he's concerned, but in this case it vitally affects me—not him."

The Senator nodded gravely. "I hoped you would see it that way. I think I can get him to sign this."

He handed the statement he had prepared to Paul who read it in silence and then returned it to him—without comment.

"Is that adequate, Paul?"

"Yes, sir."

"You noticed it calls for the payment of damages."

"That can be arranged."

A silence fell between the two men. It was broken at last by Paul and there was a hard, vibrant note in his voice which the Senator had never heard before.

"Barberini is a cad. In his crazy way he thought a charge like this against me was revenge for the time I caught him playing with marked cards. And then there was Whitney. He thought if he smeared me in this way he'd get my girl. He knew she'd fallen for him—to some extent..." he added quickly, seeing the protest in the Senator's face.

Arm in arm the two men marched to the door of the library where they met Whitney, Polly and Spuds just coming in. Not five minutes later Count Barberini was announced.

When he saw the people already there, he instantly sensed the fact that they were waiting for him.

"I did not know—I thought—what is this?" he demanded abruptly, still standing in the doorway.

"Come in, Barberini," the Senator said in a level voice. "There is a chair for you."

He indicated one on the opposite side of the library table where Paul was sitting. The Count avoided looking at Paul and quickly skirted the room to take the chair near the Senator.

"We are here this afternoon to see if it will be possible to avoid a court action this week. My client is willing to discuss that possibility with you now."

The Count looked around the room. All color had drained from his face. His eyes rested longest on Whitney who sat near Polly. She was staring out of the window, her delicate clear-cut profile a silhouette against the fading light of the winter afternoon.

"The action was brought against me by Paul Scott. What is his proposition now?"

"That you retract the charge you made against him at baccarat the night of October 25th and that you do it this afternoon here at Random Folly in the presence of these Witnesses."

The silence that gripped the room was sudden, sharp, intense. The Senator had left his chair and was standing in front of Barberini as he spoke directly to him. Slowly the Count rose to his feet. He faced the Senator.

"Is that all?" he asked.

"No. Your verbal retraction and apology for the slander against my client's good name is not enough. He demands that you sign the statement I hold in my hand."

The Count's eyes flashed fire. He made no move to take the paper the Senator had indicated. Instead he stared at the Senator with a hard unwavering gaze and his voice was almost monotonous as he repeated his question again.

"Is that all?"

"There will be damages which must be paid my client."

"I see. Anything else?"

"Nothing else. If you fulfill these stipulations, my client agrees to withdraw the libel suit against you."

"What will the damages amount to—in cash?"

"That is the last thing to be agreed upon. The satisfaction of a gentleman's honor is first—that is paramount."

The Count drew in his breath sharply. "It all seems extremely well planned in advance." The words came with a rush from the bitterness inside of him. He looked at the faces which were watching him now so grimly. Suddenly he knew they were alien—no longer friendly faces.

"I am not impressed with any of this," he said abruptly. "I was not told I was to face demands like this this afternoon. My lawyer is not here."

"That is fortunate for you, Barberini," the Senator interposed quietly. "He is also the lawyer for your embassy. I have here a paper—"

He indicated another paper—which you might

Blast, Fire Level Mill; $500,000 Loss

Coudersport, Pa., June 11 (P)—Fire which swept the G.L.F. feed mill, a farmers' cooperative enterprise in this Potter county community, early today did damage unofficially estimated at nearly $500,000.

Flames breaking out shortly before midnight in the north end of the plant were quickly succeeded by a terrific blast which levelled the south wall at the opposite end of the block-long, two-story brick structure. Grain dust was believed to have caused the explosion.

Phone and power lines were shattered and long-distance service in and out of Coudersport was temporarily cut off.

New York, June 10 (P)—The United Nations today plunged into a week of heavy work with discussions of atomic energy and Franco Spain highlighting the crowded calendar.

NAME NEW KING OF SIAM AFTER MYSTERY DEATH

Bangkok, June 11 (P)—Prince Phumiphon Aduldet, 18, was named king of Siam Monday while this shocked nation mourned the death of his brother, 20-year-old King Ananda Mahidol, who was found in the royal palace yesterday with a bullet between the eyes.

The new king, who will become the ruler of more than 200,000 square miles and 18,000,000 subjects, was unanimously selected after his brother's death.

The Siamese police director general told the legislature that Ananda's death was accidental.

Phumiphon Aduldet, the almost constant companion of his older brother, was born in Boston, Mass., while his father, the late Prince Mahidol of Songkhla, was studying at Harvard. Phumiphon Aduldet and Ananda attended school together in Switzerland.

Details are sketchy

A three-member council of regency was named by the legislature to advise the new monarch. Pridi Phanomyong, reappointed premier only three days ago, was expected to be retained in that post.

Only sketchy details were disclosed on the shooting of King Ananda, a bespectacled, diffident youth often described as a reluctant monarch, who had become extremely popular since his return from Switzerland last December.

The young ruler had been ill for two days and arose at 6 a. m. yesterday to take some medicine. Nothing was known of his actions after that time, official sources said, and his body was discovered several hours later in the bedroom of the Barompinan palace by a servant.

News of the death, which occurred on the eve of a projected trip to the United States, was broadcast at 7 p. m. yesterday, and was greeted by walls of grief from a crowd gathered in front of the publicity building in Bangkok.

BOYS' SCHOOL

more millions for institutions to put them in after they have committed some crime."

White Hill was opened March 20, 1941, and at that time was considered the most modern corrective institution in the state, Mr. Keller said. "In five years part of it has become practically obsolete."

Not A Prison

With a capacity for 1,400 first offenders, White Hill was thought large enough to take care of the problem for years. Now two more schools are to be built and White Hill will be divided into a corrective institution and a diagnostic establishment where all juveniles will be brought for about 45 days of study before being placed in what is considered the proper institution.

First thing done when a new inmate arrives is to take his records, Keller said. Next he is placed in quarantine for 30 days while psychologists, sociologists, chaplains and the other officials study the boy and his case. During the 30 days he gets a very strict, "very well balanced" military basic training. At the end of 30 days he is brought before the clinic which classifies him according to the future studies and courses he is to take. After that every four months or less he is brought before the clinic for review. The average time spent by youths at White Hill is 14 months, Keller said. "We are not a prison but a correctional school, we try to cure him." The least time anyone spends there is one year.

Forty-six members and guests attended the Rotary meeting at the YWCA with Pres. James S. Cairns presiding. Dr. Rasmus Baby spoke briefly of the history of the Adams County Crippled Children's society. H. W. Baker was named as Rotary delegate to the Girl Scout meeting this evening at the Lincoln school.
